TIME AS ORACLE

Tracking your tarot patterns through the lens of personal cycles

Matt Stine · Friday 7/17 · Ravinia C

If you can see your path laid out in front of you step by step, you know it's not your path.

THE FOOL

THE ORDINARY WORLD

WHAT AM I MISSING?

I'd pull a few, journal them, note what I was feeling, close the book. That practice is real. But one day I'm looking at a hard autumn on a single page, and there it is again and again — the Five of Pentacles. The figure in the snow, outside the lit window. Of seventy-eight cards, the one that wouldn't leave was the one my body already read as lack — in the exact stretch the financial floor was giving way under me. Maybe the count was chance. The match wasn't.

THE REFRAME

A SINGLE READING

is a sentence. Complete. True.

A YEAR OF READINGS

is a novel. One your own cards have been writing.

Most of us have read sentences our whole practice without ever opening the book.

Just put something down — its significance may only be apparent later.

— Mary K. Greer, 1984

ARCANUM II

THE HIGH PRIESTESS

HIGH PRIESTESS

YOU ALREADY KNOW.

You've felt Death arrive when something was ending. Watched the Queen of Cups follow you through grief. Had a card fall face-up and you just knew.

BEHIND THE VEIL

THE PATTERN ACROSS TIME.

She's Sophia — keeper of absolute knowledge — sitting between the pillars Boaz and Jachin. Behind her veil she's been holding the pattern across time. Not what one reading told you. What a hundred readings are telling you together.

The academy spent years arriving at a conclusion every witch in this room reached the first time a card followed her home three nights in a row.

Randomness is an illusion we create in order for our brain to put something in a box we don't yet understand.

– Jaye Anne Beringer

ARCANUM VII

THE CHARIOT

THE CHARIOT IS THE VEHICLE, NOT THE DRIVER

JOURNAL. SPREADSHEET.
APP. NAPKIN.

A journal, a spreadsheet, an app, a napkin — I genuinely do not care. Wen's Holistic Tarot has templates for this. Chang's decan walk is the same impulse. The Chariot is YOUR chariot. Build it however you want.

PULL ONE OF FOUR

WANDS — RECORD

PULL ONE · FIRE · INTUITION

Pull and capture: date, cards, a few words on your life. Don't interpret in the moment. Just capture.

DO IT NOW · PULL ONE

Shuffle. Pull one card — your anchor for the next half hour.
Write down date, card, and a few words about your actual life.
Then stop. Don't interpret it.

“Job interview.” · “Fight with my mom.” · “Felt weirdly peaceful.” — a few words. That's the discipline.

PULL TWO OF FOUR

SWORDS — FREQUENCY

PULL TWO · AIR · THINKING

After a month: which cards showed up most? Which suits dominate? Clear-eyed analysis applied to the aggregate.

TOGETHER

That card in front of you — the one you just pulled and didn't interpret? You're also one day in this room's month. We don't have a year of your data. We've got something better — a room.

△ Wands · ▽ Cups · △ Swords · ▽ Pentacles · ✦ Majors — when I call your suit, stand.

THE ROOM'S WEATHER

WANDS

Fire · making

CUPS

Water · feeling

SWORDS

Air · thinking

PENTACLES

Earth · body

MAJORS

the big story

Which element is the room holding? Which one's missing? That's this room's function, right now — and we'll test it at the end.

PULL THREE OF FOUR

CUPS — CYCLES

PULL THREE · WATER · FEELING

After three months: when did Swords peak? When did Cups?
What was happening in your life at the crossover?

WANDS

Fire · Intuition

CUPS

Water · Feeling

SWORDS

Air · Thinking

PENTACLES

Earth · Sensation

Four suits. Four elements. Four functions. The Chariot holds the tension of all of them.

DO IT NOW · PULL THREE

Not your cards — your life, this last season. Which function has been loud? Which one's been starved? Write down both.

△ Fire · intuition ▽ Water · feeling △ Air · thinking ▽ Earth · body

PULL FOUR OF FOUR

PENTACLES — DEEPER LAYERS

PULL FOUR · EARTH · SENSATION

Numerology. Astrology. Major-to-Minor ratio — chapter break vs. middle of a scene.

DO IT NOW · PULL FOUR

Back to the card you pulled first. Three layers: its number, its sky, its rank.

Numerology – reduce the number · Astrology – planet / sign · Major or Minor – chapter break, or middle of a scene?

ARCANUM X

WHEEL OF FORTUNE

THE WHEEL TURNS

YOU SEE IT.

A card that's been following you. A suit that dominated the exact weeks your life was falling apart. The moment the method stops being an exercise and starts being a mirror.

When an inner situation is not made conscious, it happens outside as fate.

– C.G. Jung

ARCANUM XIII

DEATH

WHAT HAS TO DIE

THE HABIT OF TREATING EACH READING AS AN ISOLATED RITUAL.

Not your practice — your practice is beautiful. The isolation in which you've been practicing. Pull, interpret, close the circle, each reading its own working. That's real. But it's incomplete.

YOU ALREADY LIVE BY CYCLES

ONE MOON PHASE ISN'T THE LUNAR CYCLE.

You track the Wheel of the Year. You know Samhain is not Beltane, that October's energy is not April's. You just haven't applied that cyclical awareness to your cards yet.

The caterpillar doesn't become a butterfly.
It becomes goo first.

FEBRUARY 2024.

I pulled Death on the 12th — my rarest card, ten pulls in two years. My sister Julie died on the 18th. Three deaths, three days apart.

I have your sister. She is safe.

– The Morrigan

A single daily pull couldn't hold that. A year of them could.

ARCANUM XVII

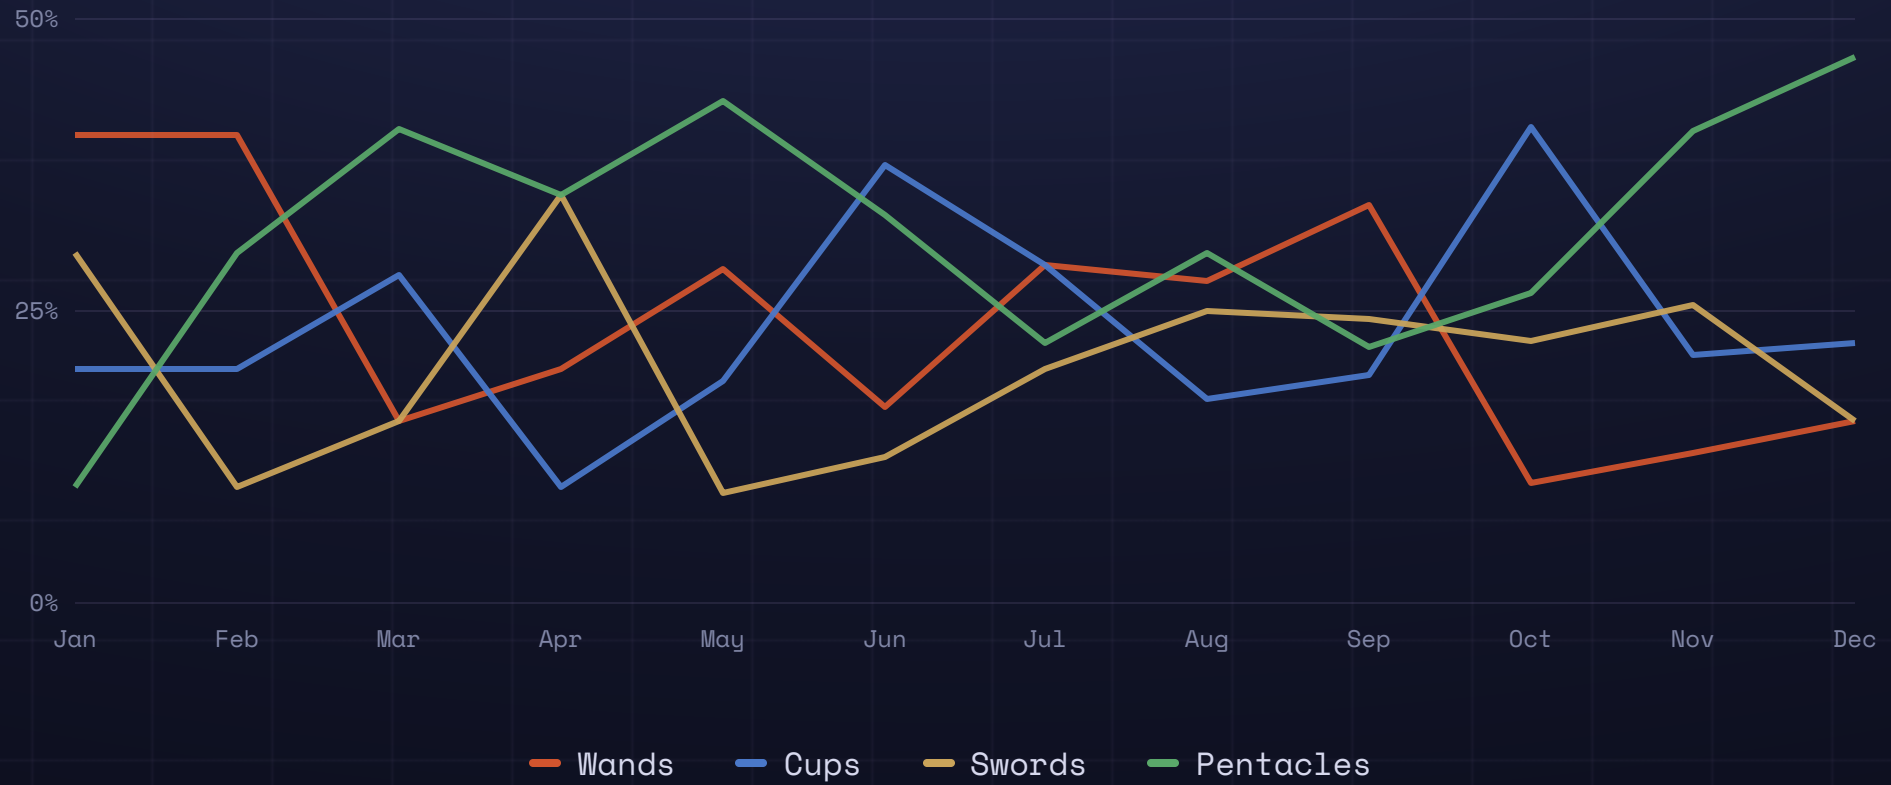

THE STAR

The background of the image is a dark, desolate landscape. The foreground and middle ground are filled with numerous sharp, jagged rock formations of varying heights. The ground appears to be a dark, textured surface, possibly sand or gravel. In the far distance, the horizon line is visible, with more rock formations silhouetted against the dark sky. In the upper center of the image, there is a single, bright, circular light source, resembling a star or a distant sun, which casts a soft glow on the surrounding area. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and otherworldly.

And then — something. Far off in the black sky, a shimmer.

A YEAR OF YOUR CARDS, ACROSS TIME

664 readings · 1,178 pulls · 28 months tracked

SHE HAD A PROJECT.

My most-pulled card that year, clustering in March and again in November. When I looked at what those windows shared, it was obvious — she had a project I was too close to see day by day. That's the descriptive read, and it's honest. But I'm a systems person — so I had to ask whether she was really beating chance.

An oracle cannot predict a precise event. But it can cast an image of a certain qualitative field of events — a certain psychological probability.

— Marie-Louise von Franz · On Divination and Synchronicity

SO I ASKED VON FRANZ'S TWO QUESTIONS

NOT THE CARD. THE FIELD.

The precise card? Chance. No card beats the odds — even the Five of Pentacles that haunted me: my deck clusters some card like that a third of the time.

The qualitative field? Real. The element keeps time with the moment — what I ask and what I live, both. Earth · money Fire · making Water · loss Air + Water · the Morrigan.

The deck didn't pick the card. It kept time with the charge.

CONSECUTIVE DAYS

Gabrielle — one of our first users — started tracking daily and noticed things her eye would never catch. The method works for anyone who shows up. This is not one person's fever dream.

ARCANUM XX

JUDGEMENT

SACRED DATA

A BOOK OF SHADOWS WRITTEN BY THE CARDS THEMSELVES.

A record of your soul's movement through time. A psychic autobiography — a Book of Shadows written by the cards themselves. Jaye Anne: "This data holds your energetic identity." And when your conscious analysis meets the unconscious signal your cards have been sending — that's the trumpet blast. Something cracks through. You can't unknow it.

MAGICAL SOVEREIGNTY, APPLIED TO INFORMATION

DON'T LET THEM WALK INTO YOUR DATA, EITHER.

If you use any digital tool — not just ours — ask the hard questions. Who owns this data? Can you delete it? Export it? Is someone harvesting your energetic identity?

ARCANUM XXI

THE WORLD

THE WORLD DANCER NEEDS NOTHING BUT THE DANCE

PAPER. PEN. WILLINGNESS TO LOOK BACK.

A journal with a monthly grid. Date, cards, notes. The willingness to look back after a month, three months, a year. That's the whole method. If you want to do this entirely analog, by candlelight, in your own handwriting — honor that. You have everything you need.

TAROTPULSE — HOW WE CHOSE TO SOLVE IT

Not the only way. Just ours. It does the counting so you can focus on the meaning — and your data is yours: export it, delete it, never mined.

YOU'RE NOT LEARNING SOMETHING NEW – YOU'RE LEARNING TO SEE WHAT THE TRADITION ALWAYS KNEW

Greer Wen Chang your practice

Four decades of practitioners independently arriving at the same conclusion:
the pattern across time is where the deep information lives.

THE COLLECTIVE VISION

NOW IMAGINE EVERY ROOM.

Millions of practitioners tracking their patterns — anonymized, aggregated.
What are the top cards being pulled right now, across the whole world? What's the energetic signature of this moment on this part of the planet?

You already did it, in miniature, an hour ago — thirty cards, one room, its own weather.

Where we have thought to be alone, we shall be with all the world.

THE FOOL RETURNS

Literally nothing is random. If you think something randomly happened — that's the thing to look at.

– Jaye Anne Beringer

YOU NOW HAVE A METHOD TO LISTEN

START TONIGHT.

Pull your cards. Write them down. Do it tomorrow. And the next day. Track the moon through a full cycle. Then look back.

DO IT NOW · YOUR WEEK

Don't wait for tonight. Pull seven cards — one for each day ahead. Log them in the first seven rows of your sheet. Don't interpret them. Live your week. Sunday, look back.

Not a prediction — a capture. “Its significance may only be apparent later.” That's the Fool's bargain, and it starts now.

The cards were never just answering your questions.
They were writing your story.

Now you know how to read it.

Stay feral, folks.
